Reason: Metrc is providing an update on our upcoming feature release.

Greetings Metrc Users,

Metrc is pleased to provide information that on 11/3/2022, our newest updates will be available within the software. This enhancement, fix, or document update includes:

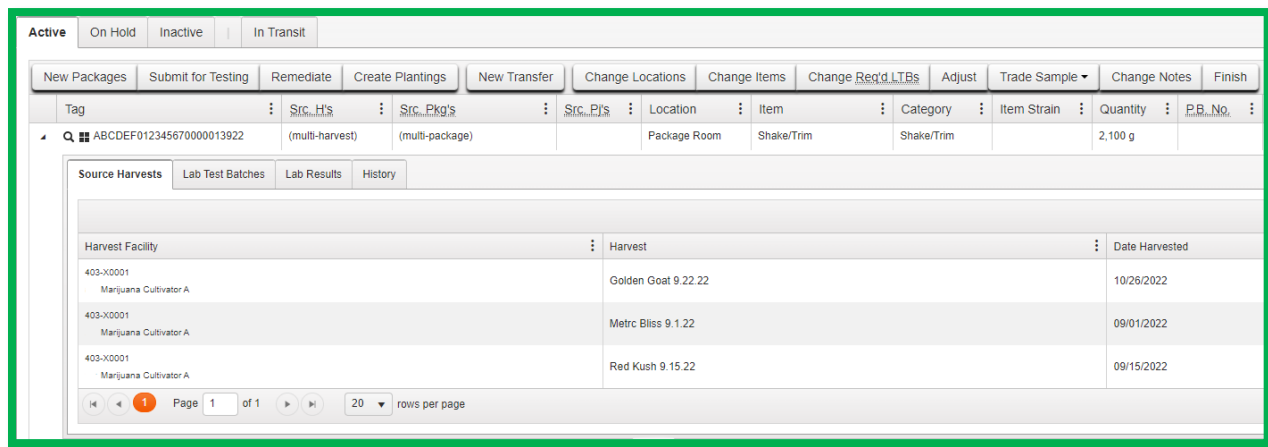

- I. New package detail tab for source harvest batch information

Please find on the following page a detailed description of the enhancement:

Source Harvest Tab

Metrc has added a new tab within the packages drilldown for users to view information on a source harvest(s) that contributed to the creation of the package. This information includes the license that created the harvest, harvest name, and date of the harvest. This will also allow you to view all the harvest information for packages created from multiple harvests.

To view this information, you will drill down on the package details and select the “Source Harvests” tab. This is shown in Figure 3 below.
